PREFACE.

This series entitled "The Unrepealed Central Acts" replaces and brings up to date the fifth edition of the Unrepealed General Acts of the Governor General of India in Council which was published in eight volumes in 1928 and supplemented by a ninth volume in 1933. Besides the normal amending legislation of subsequent years, the two Orders in Council made by His Majesty under section 293 of the Government of India Act, 1935, namely, the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937, and the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Supplementary Order, 1937, have made such numerous and far reaching changes in the statute book that an immediate revision of the volumes of the Unrepealed General Acts has been rendered necessary.

2 The opportunity has been taken to enlarge the scope of this reference work. In the previous editions only those unrepealed Acts of the Governor General in Council which extended to the whole of British India or which extended to the greater portion of British India and contained a provision admitting of their extension to the rest of British India or which applied to the Presidency-towns, were reproduced. The Indian Penal Code and the Codes of Civil and Criminal Procedure were published in separate volumes, while Acts which were in force in very limited areas, Acts which, though not formally repealed, were practically obsolete and Acts affecting a small number of persons were altogether excluded.

3 The present edition aims at a greater measure of completeness and to indicate this fact the title has been changed from "Unrepealed General Acts of the Governor General of India in Council" to "Unrepealed Central Acts". The expression "Central Acts" as defined in the General Clauses Act, 1897 [see section 3, clauses (8aa) and (8ac)] comprises Acts made by—

- (a) the Governor General in Council acting in a legislative capacity under the various Constitution Acts down to the Government of India Act, 1915,
- (b) the Indian Legislature acting under the Government of India Act or the Government of India Act, 1935,
- (c) the Federal Legislature acting under the Government of India Act, 1935, and list of such enactments the reader is referred to the Chronological Tables of Indian Statutes, Volume I. The operative paragraphs of the two Orders in Council referred to in paragraph 1 are reproduced below. A brief index is added at the end of each volume and a consolidated index at the end of the last.

7 The Acts in this volume are printed as modified up to the 31st December 1937. Certain repealing provisions and amending Acts have, however, been omitted with a view to economy of space. At the time of going to press, a Bill formally to repeal all such enactments passed not later than the 31st December, 1935, is before the Central Legislature.

(d) the Governor General acting under section 67B of the Government of India Act or section 14 of the Government of India Act, 1935.

While most of the unrepealed Central Acts of local application, hitherto published only in the Provincial Codes, most of the "private Acts" not republished anywhere and the three Codes have been included in this edition it has been considered expedient, in the interests of economy to omit the Acts which though not formally repealed are practically a dead letter and the Acts of local application relating to land revenue, rent and tenancy which, besides being bulky, have been amended diversely in the different Provinces to which they apply.

1 In the matter of foot notes this edition follows the older edition. These contain references to show where the Statements of Objects and Reasons, the reports of the Select Committees, if any (when such have been published) and the debates or proceedings in the Governor General's Council (down to the year 1920), connected with each Act passed during and after the year 1862, are to be found in the Official Gazette. References are also given to notifications in the Gazette regarding the commencement, extension and application of enactments. The changes made in the original Acts by later legislation are indicated in the text, by asterisks where matter has been repealed and by square brackets where it has been added or replaced, and explained in the foot-notes. In the case of repeals and substitutions the foot notes give the original words thus affected, unless they are of inconvenient length. Cross references to Indian Acts, references to the British Statutes on which the Indian Acts are based and references to important Statutory Rules and Orders, both Central and Provincial, are also included in the foot-notes.

5 In the Acts prior to Act XV of 1934, side notes have been added since their enactment. Beginning with that Act, however, the practice has been changed and the side notes have been added to the Bills as introduced and form part of the enactments.

6 In the Chronological Table prefixed to each volume, the short titles of all the unrepealed Central Acts of the period covered by the volume are given and a note is added in respect of each Act not reproduced in that volume. References to subsequent amending legislation have been omitted from these tables for a list of such enactments the reader is referred to the Chronological Tables of Indian Statutes, Volume I. The operative paragraphs of the two Orders in Council referred to in paragraph 1 are reproduced below. A brief index is added at the end of each volume and a consolidated index at the end of the last.

7 The Acts in this volume are printed as modified up to the 31st December 1937. Certain repealing provisions and amending Acts have, however, been omitted with a view to economy of space. At the time of going to press, a Bill formally to repeal all such enactments passed not later than the 31st December, 1935, is before the Central Legislature.

Any reference to the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor) of a named Province in Council shall be treated for the purposes of this paragraph as if it were a reference to the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor) in Council of that Province

(2) A direction in the Schedules to this Order that a specified Indian law or section or portion of an Indian law shall stand unmodified shall be construed merely as a direction that it is not to be modified or adapted in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this paragraph

5.—(1) Where this Order requires that in any specified Indian law, or in any section or other portion of an Indian law, certain words shall be substituted for certain other words or that certain words shall be omitted, that substitution or omission, as the case may be, shall, except where it is otherwise expressly provided, be made wherever the words referred to occur in that law or, as the case may be, in that section or portion

(2) Where this Order requires that in any Indian law a plural noun shall be substituted for a singular noun or vice versa, or a masculine noun for a neuter noun or vice versa, there shall be made also in any verb or pronoun in the sentence in question such consequential amendment as the rules of grammar may require

6.—(1) The following provisions shall have effect where any Indian law which under this Order is to be adapted or modified has before the commencement of this Order been amended, either generally or in relation to any particular area by the insertion or omission of words, or the substitution of words for other words—

- (a) effect shall first be given in the amending law to any adaptation or modification required by paragraphs three and five of this Order to be made therein,
- (b) the original law shall then be amended either generally or, as the case may be, in its application to the particular area, so as to give effect to the directions contained in the amending law or, where any adaptation or modification has fallen to be made under sub paragraph (a), in that law as so adapted or modified, and
- (c) all adaptations or modifications required by this Order to be made in the original law shall then be made in that law as so amended, except so far as in the case of any particular area they may be inapplicable

(2) In this paragraph references to the amendment of a law by the insertion or omission of words or the substitution of words do not include references to an amendment which is effected merely by directing that certain words shall be construed in a particular manner

7. Subject to the foregoing provisions of this Order, any reference by whatever form of words in any Indian law in force immediately before the commencement of this Order to an authority competent at the date of the passing of that law to exercise any powers or authorities, or discharge any functions, in any part of British India shall, where a corresponding new authority has been constituted by or under any Part of the Government of India Act, 1935, for the time being in force, have effect until duly repealed or amended as if it were a reference to that new authority

8 In any Indian law in force immediately before the commencement of this Order any reference by name or description to any territory shall, unless the contrary intention appears or unless it has been, or is by this Order, otherwise expressly provided, be construed as a reference to the territory which bore that name or answered to that description at the date when the enactment containing that name or description came into operation

Provided that in the application of any enactment to Madras, Bombay, Bihar or the Central Provinces references in that enactment to Madras, Bombay, Bihar or the Central Provinces, as the case may be, shall be construed as exclusive of so much of those Provinces respectively as was separated therefrom on the constitution of the Provinces of Orissa and Sind

9 The provisions of this Order which adapt or modify Indian laws so as to alter the manner in which, the authority by which, or the law under or in accordance with which, any powers are exercisable, shall not render invalid any notification, order, commitment, attachment, byelaw, rule or regulation duly made or issued, or anything duly done, before the commencement of this Order, and any such notification, order, commitment, attachment, byelaw, rule, regulation or thing may be revoked, varied or undone in the like manner, to the like extent and in the like circumstances as if it had been made, issued or done after the commencement of this Order by the competent authority and under and in accordance with the provisions then applicable to such a case.

10. Save as provided by this Order, all powers which under any law in force in British India or in any part of British India were immediately before the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935, vested in, or exercisable by, any person or authority shall continue to be so vested or exercisable until other provision is made by some legislature or authority empowered to regulate the matter in question.

11. Nothing in this Order shall affect the previous operation of, or anything duly done or suffered under, any Indian law, or any right, privilege, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred under any such law, or any penalty, forfeiture or punishment incurred in respect of any offence already committed against any such law.

12. For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that—

- (a) nothing in this Order transferring or assigning any functions to the Central Government shall be construed as excluding those functions from the operation of section one hundred and twenty-three or section one hundred and twenty-four of the Government of India Act, 1935,
- (b) the transfer by this Order to a Provincial Government of any jurisdiction theretofore exercisable by the Local Government of the Province shall not be construed as excluding that jurisdiction from the operation of sub-section (2) of section two hundred and ninety-six of the said Act,

- (d) no repeal effected by this Order shall affect the operation of sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph fifteen of the Government of India (Commencement and Transitory Provisions) Order, 1936.

[THE BENGAL ALLUVIAL LAND SETTLEMENT ACT 1858.]

ACT No. XXXI OF 1858.

[24th August, 1858]

An Act to make further provision for the settlement of land gained by alluvion in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.

Whereas for the removal of doubts respecting the course proper to be followed in the settlement of land added by alluvial accession to estates paying revenue to Government, it is expedient to lay down certain rules to be observed in the settlement of such land, It is enacted as follows —

1. When land added by alluvial accession to an estate paying revenue to Government becomes liable to assessment, if it be so agreed on between the Revenue authorities and the proprietor or proprietors, the revenue assessed upon the alluvial land may be added to the jama of the original estate, and in such case a new engagement shall be executed for the payment of the aggregate amount, and that amount shall be substituted in the Collector's rent roll for the former jama of the original estate

Addition of revenue as assessed upon alluvial land to jama of original estate

If the proprietor or proprietors object to such an arrangement, or if the Revenue authorities are of opinion that a settlement of the alluvial land cannot properly be made for the same term as the existing settlement of the original estate, the alluvial land shall be assessed and settled as a separate estate with a separate jama, and shall thenceforward be regarded and treated, as in all respects separate from and independent of the original estate, whether the separate settlement be made with the proprietor or proprietors or the land be let in farm in consequence of the refusal of the proprietor or proprietors to accept the terms of settlement

When separate settlement to be made

The separate settlement may be permanent, if the settlement of the original estate is permanent

2. Nothing contained in the preceding section shall affect the rights of any under tenant in any alluvial land under the provisions of clause 1, section 4, ²Regulation 11, 1825

A drops the child from the housetop knowing it to be likely that the fall may kill the child, but not intending to kill the child and intending in good faith the child's benefit. Here even if the child is killed by the fall A has committed no offence

(Chapter IV —General Exceptions)

Explanation—Mere pecuniary benefit is not benefit within the meaning of sections 88, 89 and 92

Communication made in good faith

93. No communication made in good faith is an offence by reason of any harm to the person to whom it is made, if it is made for the benefit of that person

Act to which a person is compelled by threats

94. Except murder, and offences against the State punishable with death, nothing is an offence which is done by a person who is compelled to do it by threats which, at the time of doing it, reasonably cause the apprehension that instant death to that person will otherwise be the consequence. Provided the person doing the act did not of his own accord, or from a reasonable apprehension of harm to himself short of instant death, place himself in the situation by which he became subject to such constraint

Explanation 1—A person who, of his own accord, or by reason of a threat of being beaten, joins a gang of dacoits, knowing their character, is not entitled to the benefit of this exception, on the ground of his having been compelled by his associates to do anything that is an offence by law

Explanation 2—A person seized by a gang of dacoits, and forced by threat of instant death, to do a thing which is an offence by law, for example a smith compelled to take his tools and to force the door of a house for the dacoits to enter and plunder it, is entitled to the benefit of this exception

slight harm

95. Nothing is an offence by reason that it causes, or that it is intended to cause, or that it is known to be likely to cause, any harm, if that harm is so slight that no person of ordinary sense and temper would complain of such harm

(a) Z under the influence of madness attempts to kill A. Z is guilty of no offence. But A has the same right of private defence which he would have if Z were sane.

99. There is no right of private defence against an act which does not reasonably cause the apprehension of death or of grievous hurt if done, or attempted to be done by a public servant acting in good faith under colour of his office, though that act may not be strictly justifiable by law.

Acts against which there is no right of private defence

There is no right of private defence against an act which does not reasonably cause the apprehension of death or of grievous hurt if done or attempted to be done by the direction of a public servant acting in good faith under colour of his office though that direction may not be strictly justifiable by law.

There is no right of private defence in cases in which there is time to have recourse to the protection of the public authorities.

The right of private defence in no case extends to the inflicting of more harm than it is necessary to inflict for the purpose of defence.

Extent to which the right may be exercised

Explanation 1—A person is not deprived of the right of private defence against an act done, or attempted to be done by a public servant as such unless he knows or has reason to believe that the person doing the act is such public servant.

Explanation 2—A person is not deprived of the right of private defence against an act done, or attempted to be done by the direction of a public servant, unless he knows or has reason to believe that the person doing the act is acting by such direction or unless such person states the authority under which he acts or if he has authority in writing unless he produces such authority, if demanded.

100 The right of private defence of the body extends under the restrictions mentioned in the last preceding section to the voluntary causing of death or of any other harm to the assailant if the offence which occasions the exercise of the right be of any of the descriptions hereinafter enumerated namely—

When the right of private defence of the body extends to causing death.

First—Such an assault as may reasonably cause the apprehension that death will otherwise be the consequence of such assault.

Secondly—Such an assault as may reasonably cause the apprehension that grievous hurt will otherwise be the consequence of such assault,

Thirdly—An assault with the intention of committing rape,

(Chapter IV —General Exceptions)

Fourthly—An assault with the intention of gratifying unnatural lust ,

Fifthly—An assault with the intention of kidnapping or abducting ,

Sixthly—An assault with the intention of wrongfully confining a person, under circumstances which may reasonably cause him to apprehend that he will be unable to have recourse to the public authorities for his release

When such right extends to causing any harm other than death

101. If the offence be not of any of the descriptions enumerated in the last preceding section, the right of private defence of the body does not extend to the voluntary causing of death to the assailant, but does extend, under the restrictions mentioned in section 99 to the voluntary causing to the assailant of any harm other than death

Commence ment and continuance of the right of private defence of the body

102 The right of private defence of the body commences as soon as a reasonable apprehension of danger to the body arises from an attempt or threat to commit the offence though the offence may not have been committed , and it continues as long as such apprehension of danger to the body continues

When the right of private defence of property extends to causing death

103 The right of private defence of property extends, under the restrictions mentioned in section 99, to the voluntary causing of death or of any other harm to the wrong doer if the offence, the committing of which, or the attempting to commit which, occasions the exercise of the right, be an offence of any of the descriptions hereinafter enumerated, namely :—

Thirdly—Mischief by fire committed on any building tent or vessel, which building, tent or vessel is used as a human dwelling or as a place for the custody of property ,

Fourthly—Theft, mischief or house trespass, under such circumstances as may reasonably cause apprehension that death or grievous hurt will be the consequence, if such right of private defence is not exercised

When such right extends to causing any harm other than death

104. If the offence, the committing of which, or the attempting to commit which occasions the exercise of the right of private defence, be theft, mischief, or criminal trespass, not of any of the descriptions enumerated in the last preceding section, that right does not extend to the voluntary causing of death, but does extend, subject to the restrictions mentioned in section 99, to the voluntary causing to the wrong doer of any harm other than death

Commence ment and continuance of the right of private defence of property

105 The right of private defence of property commences when a reasonable apprehension of danger to the property commences

The right of private defence of property against theft continues till the offender has effected his retreat with the property or either the assistance of the public authorities is obtained, or the property has been recovered

The right of private defence of property against robbery continues as long as the offender causes or attempts to cause to any person death or hurt or wrongful restraint or as long as the fear of instant death or of instant hurt or of instant personal restraint continues

(Chapter IV —General Exceptions Chapter V —Of Abetment)

The right of private defence of property against criminal trespass or mischief continues as long as the offender continues in the commission of criminal trespass or mischief

The right of private defence of property against house breaking by night continues as long as the house trespass which has been begun by such house breaking continues

106 If in the exercise of the right of private defence against an assault which reasonably causes the apprehension of death, the defender be so situated that he cannot effectually exercise that right without risk of harm to an innocent person, his right of private defence extends to the running of that risk

(Chapter V —Of Abetment)

OF OFFENCES AFFECTING THE HUMAN BODY

Of Offences affecting Life

homicide

299. Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause

(Chapter VII—Of Offences affecting the Human Body)

death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death commits the offence of culpable homicide

Illustrations

(a) A lays sticks and turf over a pit with the intention of thereby causing death or with the knowledge that death is likely to be thereby caused. Z believing the ground to be firm treads on it, falls in and is killed. A has committed the offence of culpable homicide.

(b) A knows Z to be behind a bush. B does not know it. A intending to cause, or knowing

Explanation 1—A person who causes bodily injury to another who is labouring under a disorder, disease or bodily infirmity, and thereby accelerates the death of that other, shall be deemed to have caused his death.

Explanation 2—Where death is caused by bodily injury, the person who causes such bodily injury shall be deemed to have caused the death, although by resorting to proper remedies and skilful treatment the death might have been prevented.

Explanation 3—The causing of the death of a child in the mother's womb is not homicide. But it may amount to culpable homicide to cause the death of a living child, if any part of that child has been brought forth, though the child may not have breathed or been completely born.

300 Except in the cases hereinafter excepted, culpable homicide is murder, if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death or—

2ndly—If it is done with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused or—

3rdly—If it is done with the intention of causing bodily injury to any person and the bodily injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death or—

4thly—If the person committing the act knows that it is so imminently dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and commits such act without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as aforesaid.

(Chapter XVI —Of Offences affecting the Human Body)

(c) A intentionally gives Z a sword cut or club wound sufficient to cause the death of a man in the ordinary course of nature Z dies in consequence Here A is guilty of murder, although he may not have intended to cause Z's death

(d) A without any excuse fires a loaded cannon into a crowd of persons and kills one of them A is guilty of murder, although he may not have had a premeditated design to kill any particular individual

Exception 1—Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, whilst deprived of the power of self control by grave and sudden provocation, causes the death of the person who gave the provocation or causes the death of any other person by mistake or accident

The above exception is subject to the following provisos —

First—That the provocation is not sought or voluntarily provoked by the offender as an excuse for killing or doing harm to any person

Secondly—That the provocation is not given by anything done in obedience to the law or by a public servant in the lawful exercise of the powers of such public servant

Thirdly—That the provocation is not given by anything done in the lawful exercise of the right of private defence

Explanation—Whether the provocation was grave and sudden enough to prevent the offence from amounting to murder is a question of fact

Illustrations

(a) A under the influence of passion excited by a provocation given by Z intentionally kills Y Z's child This is murder inasmuch as the provocation was not given by the child and the death of the child was not caused by accident or misfortune in doing an act caused by the provocation

(e) A attempts to pull Z's nose Z, in the exercise of the right of private defence, lays hold of A to prevent him from doing so A is moved to sudden and violent passion in consequence and kills Z This is murder, inasmuch as the provocation was given by a thing done in the exercise of the right of private defence

(f) Z strikes B B is by this provocation excited to violent rage A, a bystander, intending to take advantage of B's rage and to cause him to kill Z puts a knife into B's hand for that purpose B kills Z with the knife Here B may have committed only culpable homicide, but A is guilty of murder

Exception 2—Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, in the exercise in good faith of the right of private defence of person or property, exceeds the power given to him by law and causes the death of the person against whom he is exercising such right of defence without premeditation, and without any intention of doing more harm than is necessary for the purpose of such defence

Illustration

Z, a thief, enters A's house at night and steals some property A, in the exercise of the right of private defence, kills Z

(Chapter XVI—Of Offences affecting the Human Body)

Exception 3—Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, being a public servant or aiding a public servant acting for the advancement of public justice, exceeds the powers given to him by law and causes death by doing an act which he in good faith believes to be lawful and necessary for the due discharge of his duty as such public servant and without ill will towards the person whose death is caused

Exception 4—Culpable homicide is not murder if it is committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender's having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner

Explanation—It is immaterial in such cases which party offers the provocation or commits the first assault

Exception 5—Culpable homicide is not murder when the person whose death is caused being above the age of eighteen years suffers death or takes the risk of death with his own consent

Illustrations

A by instigation voluntarily causes Z a person under sixteen years of age to commit suicide. Here on account of Z's youth he was incapable of giving consent to his own death. A has therefore abetted murder

301. If a person by doing anything which he intends or knows to be likely to cause death commits culpable homicide by causing the death of any person whose death he neither intends nor knows himself to be likely to cause, the culpable homicide committed by the offender is of the description of which it would have been if he had caused the death of the person whose death he intended or knew himself to be likely to cause

302. Whoever commits murder shall be punished with death or transportation for life and shall also be liable to fine

303. Whoever being under sentence of transportation for life commits murder, shall be punished with death

304. or with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, or with fine or with both if the act is done with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death but without any intention to cause death or to cause such bodily injury as is likely to cause death

304A. Whoever causes the death of any person by doing any rash or negligent act not amounting to culpable homicide shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years or with fine, or with both

OF OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY

Of Theft

Theft

378. Whoever, intending to take dishonestly any moveable property out of the possession of any person without that person's consent, moves that property in order to such taking, is said to commit theft

Explanation 1—A thing so long as it is attached to the earth, not being moveable property, is not the subject of theft, but it becomes capable of being the subject of theft as soon as it is severed from the earth

Explanation 2—A moving effected by the same act which effects the severance may be a theft

Explanation 3—A person is said to cause a thing to move by removing an obstacle which prevented it from moving or by separating it from any other thing, as well as by actually moving it

Explanation 4—A person who by any means causes an animal to move, is said to move that animal, and to move everything which, in consequence of the motion so caused, is moved by that animal

Explanation 5—The consent mentioned in the definition may be express or implied, and may be given either by the person in possession, or by any person having for that purpose authority either express or implied

Illustrations

(a) A cuts down a tree on Z's ground with the intention of dishonestly taking the tree out of Z's possession without Z's consent. Here as soon as A has severed the tree in order to such taking he has committed theft

(b) A puts a bait for dogs in his pocket and thus induces Z's dog to follow it. Here, if A's intention be dishonestly to take the dog out of Z's possession without Z's consent A has committed theft as soon as Z's dog has begun to follow A

(c) A meets a bullock carrying a box of treasure. He drives the bullock in a certain direction in order that he may dishonestly take the treasure. As soon as the bullock begins to move A has committed theft of the treasure

(d) A being Z's servant and entrusted by Z with the care of Z's plate dishonestly runs away with the plate without Z's consent. A has committed theft

(f) A finds a ring belonging to Z on a table in the house which Z occupies. Here the ring is in Z's possession and if A dishonestly removes it A commits theft

(g) A finds a ring lying on the high road not in the possession of any person. A by taking it commits no theft though he may commit criminal misappropriation of property

(Chapter XIII—Of Offences against Property)

(j) If A owes money to Z for repairing the watch and if Z retains the watch lawfully as a security for the debt and A takes the watch out of Z's possession with the intention of depriving Z of the property as a security for his debt he commits theft, inasmuch as he takes it dishonestly.

(l) Again if A having pawned his watch to Z takes it out of Z's possession without Z's consent, not having paid what he borrowed on the watch, he commits theft, though the watch is his own property inasmuch as he takes it dishonestly.

(i) A takes an article belonging to Z out of Z's possession without Z's consent with the intention of keeping it until he obtains money from Z as a reward for its restoration. Here A takes dishonestly. A has therefore committed theft.

(n) A asks charity from Z's wife. She gives A money, food and clothes which A knows to belong to Z her husband. Here it is probable that A may conceive that Z's wife is authorized to give away alms. If this was A's impression A has not committed theft.

(o) A is the paramour of Z's wife. She gives A valuable property which A knows to belong to her husband Z and to be such property as she has not authority from Z to give. If A takes the property dishonestly he commits theft.

(p) A in good faith believing property belonging to Z to be A's own property takes that property out of B's possession. Here as A does not take dishonestly he does not commit theft.

379. Whoever commits theft shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years or with fine, or with both.

Illustrations

(a) A commits theft on property in Z's possession, and, while committing this theft, he has a loaded pistol under his garment having provided this pistol for the purpose of hurting Z in case Z should resist. A has committed the offence defined in this section.

(b) A picks Z's pocket having posted several of his companions near him in order that they may restrain Z if Z should perceive what is passing and should resist, or should attempt to apprehend A. A has committed the offence defined in this section.

Illustrations

(a) A threatens to publish a defamatory libel concerning Z unless Z gives him money. He thus induces Z to give him money. A has committed extortion.

(b) A threatens Z that he will keep Z's child in wrongful confinement unless Z will sign and deliver to A a promissory note binding Z to pay certain money to A. Z signs and delivers the note. A has committed extortion.

(c) A threatens to send club men to plough up Z's field unless Z will sign and deliver to B a bond binding Z under a penalty to deliver certain produce to B, and thereby induces Z to sign and deliver the bond. A has committed extortion.

(d) A, by putting Z in fear of grievous hurt, dishonestly induces Z to sign or affix his seal to a blank paper and deliver it to A. Z signs and delivers the paper to A. Here, as the paper so signed may be converted into a valuable security, A has committed extortion.

Of Robbery and Dacoity

390 In all robbery there is either theft or extortion

Theft is "robbery" if, in order to the committing of the theft, or in committing the theft, or in carrying away or attempting to carry away property obtained by the theft, the offender, for that end, voluntarily causes or attempts to cause to any person death or hurt or wrongful restraint or fear of instant death or of instant hurt, or of instant wrongful restraint

Robbery
is robbery.

Extortion is "robbery" if the offender, at the time of committing the extortion, is in the presence of the person put in fear, and commits the extortion by putting that person in fear of instant death, of instant hurt, or of instant wrongful restraint to that person, or to some other person, and, by so putting in fear, induces the person so put in fear then and there to deliver up the thing extorted

When extortion is robbery

Explanation—The offender is said to be present if he is sufficiently near to put the other person in fear of instant death or instant hurt, or of instant wrongful restraint

Illustrations

(a) A holds Z down, and fraudulently takes Z's money and jewels from Z's clothes without Z's consent. Here A has committed theft and in order to the committing of that theft has voluntarily caused wrongful restraint to Z. A has therefore committed robbery

Consequence instant
robbery

(c) A meets Z
at dawn precipitately
A has extorted the
is there present

(d) A obtains property from Z by saying—Your child is in the hands of my gang and will be put to death unless you send us ten thousand rupees. This is extortion and punishable as such but it is not robbery unless Z is put in fear of the instant death of his child

(Chapter XVII—Of Offences against Property)

Illustrations

(b) A being on friendly terms with Z goes into Z's library in Z's absence and takes away a book without Z's express consent. Here if A was under the impression that he had Z's implied consent to take the book for the purpose of reading it A has not committed theft. But, if A afterwards sells the book for his own benefit, he is guilty of an offence under this section.

Explanation 1—A dishonest misappropriation for a time only is a misappropriation within the meaning of this section.

Illustration

A finds a Government promissory note belonging to Z bearing a blank endorsement. A, knowing that the note belongs to Z, pledges it with a banker as a security for a loan, intending at a future time to restore it to Z. A has committed an offence under this section.

Explanation 2—A person who finds property not in the possession of any other person, and takes such property for the purpose of protecting it for, or of restoring it to the owner, does not take or misappropriate it dishonestly, and is not guilty of an offence, but he is guilty of the offence above defined, if he appropriates it to his own use, when he knows or has the means of discovering the owner, or before he has used reasonable means to discover and give notice to the owner and has kept the property a reasonable time to enable the owner to claim it.

What are reasonable means or what is a reasonable time in such a case, is a question of fact.

It is not necessary that the finder should know who is the owner of the property, or that any particular person is the owner of it; it is sufficient if, at the time of appropriating it, he does not believe it to be his own property, or in good faith believes that the real owner cannot be found.

Illustrations

(a) A finds a rupee on the high road, not knowing to whom the rupee belongs. A picks up the rupee. Here A has not committed the offence defined in this section.

(b) A finds a letter on the road containing a bank note. From the direction and contents of the letter he learns to whom the note belongs. He appropriates the note. He is guilty of an offence under this section.

(c) A finds a cheque payable to bearer. He can form no conjecture as to the person who has lost the cheque. But the name of the person who has drawn the cheque appears. A knows that this person can direct him to the person in whose favour the cheque was drawn. A appropriates the cheque without attempting to discover the owner. He is guilty of an offence under this section.

(d) A sees Z drop his purse with money in it. A picks up the purse with the intention of restoring it to Z, but afterwards appropriates it to his own use. A has committed an offence under this section.

(e) A finds a purse with money, not knowing to whom it belongs. He afterwards discovers that it belongs to Z, and appropriates it to his own use. A is guilty of an offence under this section.

(f) A finds a valuable ring, not knowing to whom it belongs. A sells it immediately without attempting to discover the owner. A is guilty of an offence under this section.

B, after the seizure of the estate in collusion with Z executes a lease of the estate to Z at a nominal rent and for a long period and dates the lease six months prior to the seizure with intent to defraud A and to cause it to be believed that the lease was granted before the seizure. B, though he executes the lease in his own name, commits forgery by antedating it.

I

From C FRADON, Esq., Secretary to the Government of India Foreign Department to C J WINGFIELD Esq. Chief Commissioner of Oudh —(No 6-68 dated 10th October, 1859)

I AM directed by the Governor General in Council to acknowledge the receipt of your Secretary's letters noted in the margin relative to the taluqdari settlement of Oudh

dated the 4th June
No 1377, dated the 15th July.

2 His Excellency in Council, agreeing with you as to the expediency of removing all doubts as to the intention of the Government to maintain the taluqdars in possession of the taluqs for which they have been permitted to engage, is pleased to declare that every taluqdar with whom a summary settlement has been made since the re occupation of the province has thereby acquired a permanent hereditary and transferable proprietary right, namely, in the taluqa for which he has engaged including the perpetual privilege of engaging with the Government for the revenue of the taluqa

3 This right is, however, conceded subject to any measure which the Government may think proper to take for the purpose of protecting the inferior zamindars and village occupants from extortion, and of upholding their rights in the soil in subordination to the taluqdars

4 The Governor General in Council desires that you will have ready, by His Excellency's arrival at Lucknow, a list of the taluqdars upon whom a permanent proprietary right has now been conferred, and that you will prepare sanads to be issued to these taluqdars at that time The sanads will be given by, and will run in the name of, the Chief Commissioner, acting under the authority of the Governor General

5 I am directed to add that, as regards zamindars and others not being taluqdars, with whom a summary settlement has been made, the orders conveyed in the Limitation Circular No 31 of the 28th of January, 1859, must not be strictly observed Opportunity must be allowed at the next settlement to all disappointed claimants, to bring forward their claims, and all such claims must be heard and disposed of in the usual manner

II

From C FRADON, Esq., Secretary to the Government of India Foreign Department, with the Governor General, to Chief Commissioner, Oudh —(No 23, dated 19th October, 1859)

I AM directed by His Excellency the Governor General to acknowledge the receipt of your demi official letter of the 15th instant, enclosing a form of sanad to be given to the taluqdars of Oudh, granting them a full and permanent proprietary right in the taluqas for which they have severally been permitted to engage at the summary settlement

2 This form of sanad is generally approved, and a revised copy, with some few alterations, is herewith enclosed for adoption and for careful translation into the Hindustani language in which the sanads will be prepared

3 The sanads declare that while, on the one hand, the Government has conferred on the taluqdars and on their heirs for ever the full proprietary right in their respective estates, subject only to the payment of the annual revenue that may be imposed from time to time, and to certain conditions of loyalty and good service, on the other hand, all persons holding an interest in the land under the taluqdars will be secured in the possession of the subordinate rights which they have heretofore enjoyed

4 The meaning of this is that, when a regular settlement of the province is made, wherever it is found that zamindars or other persons have held an interest in the soil intermediate between the raiyat and the taluqdar, the amount or proportion payable by the intermediate holder to the taluqdar, and the net jama finally payable by the taluqdar to the Government, will be fixed and recorded after careful and detailed survey and inquiry into each case, and will remain unchanged during the currency of the settlement, the taluqdar being of course free to improve his income and the value of his property by the reclamation of waste lands (unless in cases where usage has given the liberty of reclamation to the zamindar) and by other measures of which he will receive the full benefit at the end of the settlement Where leases (pattas) are given to the subordinate zamindars, they will be given by the taluqdar, not by the Government

5 This being the position in which the taluqdars will be placed, they cannot, with any show of reason, complain if the Government takes effectual steps to re establish and maintain in subordination to them the former rights, as those existed in 1855 of other persons whose connexion with the soil is, in many cases, more intimate and more ancient than theirs, and it is obvious that the only effectual protection which the Government can extend to these inferior holders is to define and record their rights and to limit the demand of the taluqdars as against such persons during the currency of the settlement to the amount fixed by the Government as the basis of its own revenue demand

6 What the duration of the settlement shall be, and what proportion of the rent shall be allowed in each case to zamindars and taluqdars, are questions to be determined at the time of settlement

The Governor General agrees in your observation that it is a bad principle to create two classes of recognized proprietors in one estate, and it is likely to lead to the alienation of a larger proportion of the land revenue than if there were only one such class But whilst the taluqdar tenure, notwithstanding this drawback, is about to be recognized and re established, because it is consonant with the feelings and traditions of the whole people of Oudh, the zamindari tenure intermediate between the tenures of the taluqdar and the raiyat is not a new creation and it is a tenure which, in the opinion of the Governor General, must be protected

Whenever it is proved to the satisfaction of such Authority that an executor or administrator has paid debts due from the deceased to such an amount as, being deducted out of the amount or value of the estate, reduces the same to a sum which, if it had been the whole gross amount or value of the estate, would have occasioned a less court fee to be paid on the probate or letters of administration granted in respect of such estate than has been actually paid thereon under this Act, Relief where debts due from a deceased person have been paid out of his estate

such Authority may return the difference, provided the same be claimed within three years after the date of such probate or letters
